MOLONEY HAND-BUILT TRIPS DEBUTS ANNOUNCES CALENDAR FOR 2005 & 2006

www.moloneytrips.com offers adventure and active travelers trips that defy the norm.

(New York, NY-February 10, 2005) In search of one-of-a-kind, meticulously and intelligently planned trips to parts more wild and less traveled? Moloney Hand-Built Trips (Moloney Trips) is the answer. Residing on the web at www.moloneytrips.com, this innovative new travel company is helmed by founder, Mary Anne Moloney. Working with a team of expert outfitters and guides, she maps every trip, scrutinizes every detail and considers every option to ensure that clients will have the best possible experience.

Moloney Trips provides exclusive access to off-the-map locations that are often challenging to reach as an independent traveler. Absolutely no other travel company offers these distinctive, tailor-made trips to far-flung destinations like Iceland's uninhabited interior and the remotest regions of Patagonia. Whether guests want to embark on a memorable group excursion to Alaska's wild coast or to encounter the endangered cheetah in Southern Africa with the guidance of conservation experts, Moloney Trips will provide them with extraordinary small group travel opportunities.

"We are dedicated to delivering unparalleled service," explains Mary Anne. "No detail is too small when it comes to insuring that each guest's journey not only meets expectations but exceeds them." Clients are encouraged to communicate directly with Mary Anne so that she can become familiar with their interests and abilities and create the right trip to suit their unique desires. "My goal is to organize trips that will enlighten the keen observer and challenge the physically active," she adds. "I want to engage the traveler in new experiences and generate excitement in discovery."

She builds upon decades of personal experiences to provide clients with unparalleled, reliable and safe access to new and remote frontiers across the globe. As an intrepid world traveler, Mary Anne has visited more than 24 countries in five continents and completed hiking and climbing expeditions through Chile, Ecuador, Nepal and fifteen mountain regions in North America. Furthermore, every guide or trip leader that she collaborates with has intimate knowledge of their destinations, including specialized knowledge of ecology and wildlife. Philanthropy, education and conservation are often built into trips, in order to encourage responsible and sustainable travel practices.

Whether trekking through unexplored regions of Iceland, encountering the rare in Africa, hiking the truly rugged in Patagonia, or experiencing the genuinely remote in Alaska, Moloney Trips takes you there.
